THE taste, the flavor of Shefford Snappy Cheese never varies. The fact that it is made in the good old English manner (acknowledged by all authorities on cheese to be the only proper way) largely accounts for this. Then, too, the cheese is properly aged, and is made from pure, entire milk.

Shefford Snappy Cheese

is prime cheese in every particular. You can eat plenty of it with no bad effect.
Shefford Snappy Cheese is wrapped like imported cheese, in neat foil packages protected from flies, dust and soiled hands.

Other cheese has been wrapped and labeled to look like Shefford Snappy Cheese, but no other cheese tastes like it.

The last of a lot is as desirable as the first—but it is a "remnant" now if it is a Parlor Suite—and must go the way of all remnants here—out at the prices that will move them regardless of what they are worth.

The maid of honor, Miss Anna Singleton, and the bridesmaids, Miss Anna Darlington, Miss Lillian Dent, Miss Mary Badger Wilson and Miss Mary Griggs, who directly preceded the bride, were dressed alike in a pale yellow crepe de chine, over white, and wore a lace collar and cuffs, and soft bands of yellow chiffon in their hair.
